FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR NO. 47

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY OCTOBER 25, 1935

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS. — Although Ohio ranks as the sixth state in the Union in the value of agricultural products it holds third place in the nation in the number of vocational agriculture departments in high schools, according to Ray Fife, state supervisor for vocational agriculture. Mr. Fife made the announcement in conjunction with the trip of twelve Ohio farm boys to Kansas City to participate in the national convention of the Future Farmers of America, which was staged in connection with the American Royal Livestock Show. For winning the Ohio livestock judging contest two teams of three members each participated in national judging contests. One team, from Monroe, was composed of Leon Stein, Ralph Thomas and Melvin Schaefer. The other, from Walnut township, Pickaway county, was composed of Herman Traux, James Moody and Howard Reed. Six other farm boys—Virgil Wertz, Ashland; Stanley Tschantz of Dalton; Melvin Rings, Hilliards; Roy Metz, Jackson Center; Dale Dargatz, Montpelier; and Paul Waddell of Waldo—were candidates to receive the "American farmer degree," the highest award given members of the Future Farmers' organization for outstanding records in farming ability, leadership, scholarship and thrift in their high school courses in vocational agriculture. Mr. Fife said Earl Blayney of Mt. Gilead competed with three other regional winners in the national F. F. A. public speaking contest. He won the state contest last February and the North Atlantic regional contest in September.

The gasoline tax division of the State Tax Commission reported an increase of 5,003,748 gallons of taxed gasoline for motor vehicle fuel in August as compared with the same month a year ago. The total certified for tax collection in August, 1935 was 96,331,980 gallons, as compared to 91,328,232 gallons in August 1934. In the eight months of 1935 the total was 664,622,169 gallons, as compared to 629,404,388 in last year's like period, an increase of 35,217,816 gallons. The gross amount earned by the tax in August was $2,733,575.58.

In all probability Ohio will continue to receive federal funds for direct relief purposes until December 1, according to word from Washington. The government had said that it would retire from direct relief activities November 1, but delay in the Works Progress Administration program necessitated the change in plans. When the November 1 date was set it was thought that at least 200,000 of the 300,000 Ohio employables on relief would be given WPA jobs by that time. Thus far only 35,000 persons from the relief rolls have been put to work, but additional WPA projects are being put in operation daily, according to the state WPA administrator.

The Ohio Civil Service Commission will conduct competitive examinations for 19 state positions October 29, 30 and 31, according to Chairman Ralph W. Emmons of the commission. They include chief of the division of accounting of the Department of Liquor Control, for superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory, dentist at state institutions, key punch machine operator, tabulating machine operator, grade three physician, psychotechnician for the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, stenographer, assistant highway engineer, two assistant engineers for the highway testing laboratory, claim agent for the Department of Liquor Control, and grade two examiner for the bureau of motor vehicles. Detailed information may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commission, which is located in the new state office building, Chairman Emmons said.

Farm income in Ohio has increased thirty-one per cent over what it was a year ago, according to data compiled by Director Earl H. Hanefeld of the State Department of Agriculture, who is a dirt farmer himself. He estimated that the cash returns of the state's 255,000 farmers in 1935 will be approximately $72,000,000 in excess of what they were three years ago. He stated that farm credit is more readily available and that a large number of farms have been refinanced during the past three years. Taxes have been reduced to nearly half of what they were in 1929 and 1930. Crops of better than the average yield have been harvested this year in all sections except the flood-stricken areas, Director Hanefeld stated.

GEO. W. CONFARR MEETS DEATH IN AUTO CRASH

George William Confarr, 29, Parkersburg, W. Va., son-in-law of Mrs. Adda Mitchell, this place, was instantly killed Friday morning when his automobile collided with a passenger bus near Nelsonville, O.

According to a statement of Gail Graham, Columbus, driver of the bus, the door of the car driven by Confarr had opened and while attempting to close it lost control of the car due to leaves on a wet pavement. The auto crashed into the side of the bus, and later being skidded into a field, but neither of the two passengers were injured.

Confarr suffered a broken neck and a crushed body. His car was a total wreck. Confarr was a salesman for the Dayton Display Fixture Co., with headquarters in Parkersburg.

The deceased was a son of Howard T. Confarr, Los Angeles, Calif., a former resident of Xenia. Farm Purchasing Power Increased

The purchasing power of farmers of Greene County has been increased approximately $800,000.00 through benefit payments during the past two years under the operation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, according to J. B. Mason, Chairman of the Greene County Corn-Hog Control Association.

Entirely too often the farmer has been criticized for receiving compensation for the non-production of corn, hogs and wheat and entirely too little attention paid to the benefits derived through increased urban employment to produce the many articles the farmer is now able to buy.

The expressed purpose of the AAA has been to obtain prices for farm products that will give to our farmers a purchasing power not to exceed the five year period preceding the World War. Benefit payments are made in return for certain very definite services rendered by the farmer for basic commodities, reducing unemployment through increased purchasing power, conserving of soil resources, restoring proper crop rotations, and affording an ample supply of commodities commensurate to the requirements of the consumer.

Restoration of the purchasing power or parity prices for our farmers does not operate to the disadvantage of the consumer unless there is added an undue advantage taken by some self-interested groups who are sponsoring suits in the Supreme Court of the United States in an attempt to wreck the entire AAA program.

Supplies of farm commodities have been adjusted to normal levels and farm prices have been adjusted almost to the parity price. At this time it is necessary for producers of farm commodities to decide whether to follow a policy of crop production adjusted to domestic requirements or a policy of unrestricted production bringing about cycles of over production and periods of very low farm income.

The annual election night supper will be held November 5th at the Presbyterian church. Tickets on sale for 35 cents.

Miss Jennie Bratton, who has been ill for some time, is reported much improved.

PEOPLE SHOULD BACK SHERRILL SURVEY REPORT

One of the most complete and comprehensive surveys of state government ever made in any state has been completed by the Sherrill committee and submitted to Governor Davey and released in sections through the press for the information of Ohio taxpayers. The committee was the suggestion of the Governor and has been non-political as the members were chosen from Ohio industry and financed at an expense of more than $200,000 by private subscription, at no expense to the state.

As was to be expected such a survey could not be made without stepping on some politician's toes, an office holder or some interest that was selling directly to the state at big profit. When the committee reported that 14 million dollars could be saved taxpayers, then officeholders around Columbus began to throw cold water on the findings. Even Governor Davey has not been overly warm to the recommendations and publically stated that a certain amount of political manipulation was necessary under our form of government. Some days ago John M. Caren, executive secretary to the Governor, issued a statement, charging that the committee had broken faith with the Governor. If such a survey was to be a whitewash affair Gov. Davey should not have enlisted executives of high standing from Ohio successful business concerns. From the Caren comment the Governor should have named old line politicians to make the survey. He could have found both Republican and Democrats that would have given him a report much to his liking.

With the question of additional taxes before the legislature the Sherrill report should have first place for consideration. It has been contended that Ohio was raising sufficient taxes but that the government was overloaded with useless appointees, boards and commissions. There has been duplication of effort between various branches of the government that should have been eliminated long ago, but reducing a state payroll is no easy matter in as much as appointees have the backing of politicians, Republican or Democratic. Secretary Caren says the saving possible to Ohio taxpayers cannot be more than three or four million. This amount is ten million under the Sherrill report. We believe and have reason to know that the Sherrill findings are nearer correct. For this reason we urge our readers to give consideration and moral backing to the Sherrill report. It should be kept fresh in the mind of every citizen and those in authority in Columbus given to understand that no additional taxes of any kind are necessary. Savings can be made where tax money can be redistributed more justly among taxing districts. Do not let politicians tell you that your tax load is due to local taxes. Local taxes are levied to meet demands of both state laws and state departments. You get seventy-five percent more benefit of local taxes in the way of fire and police protection, sanitary requirements, good streets, than you get from any dollar collected indirectly for support of state government.

The Sherrill report points the way for lifting the tax load and yet have as good or better government. Why not make it a point to backup this committee recommendations at every opportunity you have?

FARM BUREAU WILL PROTECT IMPORTATIONS

The American Farm Bureau may give approval to part of the AAA program but plans are in the making to ask congress for excise taxes on foreign produced products that come in competition with farm products. When the Bureau examined the import list for nine months there was some surprises that indicate why certain farm products were being held down in price.

When it comes to importing 31 million more pounds of meat products during the nine months this year against the total for 1934 there was ample proof that somebody connected with the New Deal had been doing a good job of deceiving the American farmer. In the list of grains the past nine months corn imports gained 32 million bushels. Flour from 152,000 barrels to 1,277,000.

Paying the farmer not to produce and then importing farm products in such quantities is little short of a scandal which should open the eyes of any farmer.

"Constructive Criticism," that is what Hugh Johnson, NRA fame, says of the New Deal, Roosevelt and the brain-trusters, in a current article of a popular periodical just out. But let us examine some of the other statements to get a fair conception of the brand of criticism thrust against the American Dictator.

"But the monkey business with money was a tragic error."

"With the abandonment of sound money, balanced budget and reduced spending and taxation."

"Unemployment is not being relieved—not now even being attacked. The PWA-WPA program is a complete flop."

"Maybe you can't beat four billion dollars, but four billion dollars can beat you."

"There are not enough Democrats in this country to elect a President."

The last quotation may be "friendly criticism" but the NRA boss evidently has a dagger up his sleeve. It is a crafty method of shooting the New Deal full of hot shot. There probably is no man that has ever been connected with the Roosevelt house of horrors that knows more of the sham, trickery, open deceit and double dealing than Gen. Johnson. The criticism we suggest is against the General, knowing all these things, has waited so long to expose a rotten situation to the people of this country.

The Mayor of Chicago closed a popular show early this week, "Tobacco Road." When a show is closed in the big city because it degrades moral standards—that is news. The Mayor says the play is degrading and would not be permitted to show in his city. It was not so many months ago that Mrs. Roosevelt attended the same play and was loud in her praise of the story and cast. When the press carried the views from the Whitehouse, immediately attendance picked up and "Tobacco Road" has been a big money maker to date. Social standards in Washington, D. C., must be on a lower level than even that of Al Capone's home town.

Mayor Kelley of Chicago, like Gen. Johnson has played under another of the Roosevelt standards.

The New Dealers down in Washington have a new idea, that savings banks in the country must be required to reduce rate of interest paid on savings accounts. Inasmuch as the Roosevelt printing press bonds are in the 2-7-8 class it is suggested that the limit for savings banks be fixed at 1-1-2 per cent annually. If you were looking for some place to invest some earnings for old age, rather than be on the dole list, to have an income of $750 a year you would have to have $50,000 invested in a saving bank. This gives you some idea and some proof of the Roosevelt method of dividing the wealth of the nation for that "more abundant life" we hear so much about. The poor and helpless are already down and out. It is the great middle class that is being ground to a pulp. The Roosevelt circle of millionaire friends would as the men in the ranks. Yes, he is earn $15,000 at one and one-half per cent yearly on each million which should go far towards keeping the wolf from the door. How much longer will the middle class swallow Communist doctrine emanating from the Whitehouse?

While farmers are being paid for crop reduction the administration is gradually opening the ports of the nation for importation of meats and different grains, all of which come in under prices prevailing in this country and must compete with what is produced here. We read an interesting article on a financial page several days ago. One of the promises of the liquor interests and Roosevelt was that by repeal all grain prices would rise due to demand by distillers and brewers. Now we read that millions of bushels of rye have been imported the first nine months this year. Home grown rye has been selling around 50 cents a bushel. To keep this price down the government permits rye importation for the benefit of the liquor manufacturers. According to the opinion of the writer of the above mentioned article rye would have reached $1.50 a bushel, with no rye imported. Great is the love of the Roosevelt for the growers of rye. Cheap rye, greater profits in liquor is the New Deal idea of prosperity.

Former Senator Simeon D. Fess told the Springfield Rotary club Monday that "states' rights are gradually slipping, and even individual rights are in jeopardy."

In an address renewing past criticisms of the Roosevelt administration, Dr. Fess, asserted that "if the Constitution of the United States is amended to restrict the present authority of the supreme court, immediately every elemental basis upon which our government is built will have been destroyed."

R. R. Wright, Jr., president of Wilberforce university, recently found an old copy of the school's history which referred to Wilberforce as the "Ohio African university." The manuscript, believed to be a copy of the minutes of one of the original trustees meetings, traces the institution's beginning to a church conference at Hillsboro in 1853. Actual planning of a Negro university, however, is traced by the manuscript to Urbana in 1855.

We met an old friend a few days ago in a Columbus hotel. He is one of the most prominent and successful bankers in Central Ohio and a large land owner. Having served two terms in Congress and highly honored at times by his political party in organization affairs, he has had his finger on the pulse of party leaders as well as the men in the ranks. Yes, he is earn $15,000 at one and one-half per cent yearly on each million which should go far towards keeping the wolf from the door. How much longer will the middle class swallow Communist doctrine emanating from the Whitehouse?

Back in the days when it was popular to "boast of Jefferson and the constitution, Democracy had a place in the sun. The Jeffersonian Democrat today thinks that Jeff Davis "and the sour apple tree song" may yet come to the front unless the brain trusters brand it "old stuff."

When J. M. Klever, Washington C. H. died last Thursday at the age of 88, Ohio lost one of the first fancy hog breeders the country knew. He is said to have recorded the first Poland China hog, which was the ground for such records for breeds that were developed later. He, and his brother, Ed Klever, also have the credit of selling the only hog known at a price of $10,000 actual cash. The brothers specialized in Poland China hogs.

The late lamented and greatly beloved Will Rogers once said: "It takes the Republicans to make the money and the Democrats to spend it." There was one other saying of years ago that figured in politics and that was: "The Democrats vote for liquor and the Republicans drink it."

The American Dictator is back from an ocean voyage on a government vessel that cost $22,000 daily to operate it. Part of the prosperity plan. We read no where about any of the relief applicants being invited; none of the unemployed had a chance to get a bite at the balm Pacific breeze; the common every-day variety of Democrat did not get to see the Panama canal at government expense. The Dictator cries and sobs for the unfortunate but only the silk-stocked high-hatters can do the honors for his Dictatorship. It has been a great vacation period for the New Dealers while the common folks stay at home to pay the bills. Vice President Garner is on the ocean bound for Japan to take a peep at the Mikado. Several members of the cabinet crossed the Atlantic on "business for Uncle Sam." At home every body is living on the fat of the land due to New Deal prosperity. A great age!

Mrs. Orlando Turnbull underwent a major operation last Friday at the Springfield City Hospital. Her condition is much improved according to reports.

Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you . . . you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident . . .

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

He Slaps Her Face—Several Times

Here's Brian Aherne and the alluring Joan Crawford, stars of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational all new screen hit, "I Live My Life," which will open a week's engagement on the screen at the Regent Theater, in Springfield, Friday, October 25.

The story concerns a wealthy society girl who during a world cruise chances to meet an explorer in far-off Greece. She falls madly in love with him in her moment of loneliness and their brief romance causes him to follow her back to New York.

In New York, the girl has her society friends and attempts to ignore the young man. He won't be cast aside however—being an Irish gentleman with an extremely hot temper. He slaps the young lady's face—yes, several times—and finally she realizes many things including the fact she really loves him.

"I Live My Life," is one of the crowning entertainments of the new movie year and will be enjoyed by thousands of moviegoers during its week's engagement at the Regent Theater in Springfield.

The all-star cast includes besides the beautiful Joan Crawford, Brian Aherne, Frank Morgan and Alaine MacMahon in featured roles. Coming screen events at the Regent include "Shipmates Forever," "Big Broadcast of 1936," "Way Down East," and "Thanks a Million."

The State Theater in Springfield, will offer as its weekend feature attraction, starting Saturday, the new anti-crime thriller, "Special Agent," starring George Brent and Bettie Davis

Student Patrol System Organized The State Highway Department sent two patrolmen to the local school recently for the purpose of organizing and explaining the purpose of a student patrol drivers.

The bus squad, boy scouts and the boys selected for the bus patrol unit attended the meeting. The patrolmen very carefully explained how these units should function. They emphasized the need of this type of protection to provide for the safety of the children against traffic hazards.

There are two units consisting of the bus patrol and the street patrol. Each patrol will be in charge of a lieutenant while a captain will be in charge of both patrols. The Greene County Automobile Club has furnished a "Sam Brown" belt and a badge for each boy in duty. Also, large stop signs are used by the boys on duty.

The boys on the street patrol unit are boy scouts who live in town. The scouts who live in the country will not be able to serve on the street patrol since the buses leave at the same time.

Barrel Storage Becomes Popular

For Storing Small Quantities Is Better Than Outdoor Pit

For storing small quantities of vegetables the so-called vertical barrel or box storage is becoming popular, according to the department of horticulture at the Ohio State University.

Apples, root crops, potatoes, and even cabbage may be stored in them, the department states.

The box or barrel, filled with vegetables to be stored, is plugged and sunk into the ground about half its depth. The exposed part is covered with straw to a depth of about six inches. Earth a foot deep is mounded over the straw as soon as cold weather approaches.

Vegetables stored in such a way are usually not harvested until the temperature drops to 34 to 40 degrees. Root crops are left in the ground until there is danger of injury by severe fall frosts. This is about the first week of November in central Ohio, a week later for southern Ohio, and a week earlier in northern Ohio.

If the storage is made too early the vegetables will heat and rot in spite of all precautions to provide ventilation.

Hessian Fly Pest Grows In Ohio

Greatest hessian fly infestation in many years in the Ohio soft winter wheat belt and discovery of a new wheat pest were reported Monday by J. S. Houser, of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, in his annual wheat field survey.

Average hessian fly infestation for the entire state was estimated 29.3 per cent, compared with 15.5 per cent in 1934 and 8.1 per cent in 1933.

The new pest discovered is known as the Black Wheat-Stem Sawfly and at present is prevalent only in the northeastern counties of Ohio, according to Houser.

Houser stated that the percentage of hessian fly infestation does not tell the whole story. Considered from the standpoint of the total volume of hessian fly in the state at the present time, it "may be reported with absolute assurance that it far exceeds double the amount of last year," he said.

Counties infested include Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull, Stark, Portage, Carroll, Tuscarawas, Harrison, Jefferson, Belmont, Wayne and Monroe, all in eastern Ohio. It remains to be seen to what extent this insect may become generally distributed in Ohio and whether it will prove to be a seriously destructive wheat pest. It is hoped that the present invasion is a result of abnormal weather in the past few years and that a return to more nearly normal conditions may serve as a natural check. No repressive measures were suggested by the Ohio experiment station, pending further research.

For Sale—Typewriter—Remington Portable. Good as new. Will sell for $30. Inquire of Gladys Bumgarner, Cedarville, Ohio.

Temperance Notes

Sponsored by Cedarville W. C. T. U.

"To sell drink for a livelihood is bad enough, but for a whole community to share the responsibility and guilt of such a traffic seems a worse bargain than that of Judas."—Horace Greeley.

A good law should never be repealed because it is violated. It should remain on the statute book, like the Golden Rule in the Christian faith—as an ideal for conduct, if nothing more, and as a rallying point for the faithful and law-abiding minority, until at last the whole community climbs to the higher standard and enforces its beneficent provisions for the general good.—National Voice.

It is strange that so many of our city papers continue to tell us that crime, lawlessness and bootlegging is in existence when they declared before repeal that there would be no bootlegging nor crime after the 18th Amendment was wiped out.

"The new saloon is just the old saloon hiding behind women's skirts. Mothers used to have to worry over the sobriety of their sons. Now they are faced with a greater problem, the sobriety of their daughters."

Unless drinking by women is checked, mothers of tomorrow will become alcohol addicts in sufficient number to imperil the man-power of our nation.

The menace of the driver who prides himself as being "moderate" is hastening the day of the return of prohibition!

How many lives must be needlessly sacrificed before that day comes? Of all motor vehicle drivers who should have complete control of all their faculties, taxicab drivers probably head the list. Yet a brewery recently ran a large advertisement—five columns wide and fourteen inches long—with a picture of a taxicab driver sampling a bottle of beer, under the caption, "After fighting traffic all day drink—and relax."

Stage Set For Corn Field Day

Husking Contest for Women Too This Year; To Be At Paulding

The stage is set for the sixth annual Ohio corn field day and husking contests. The place is chosen, the plots are laid out, demonstrations have been planned, exhibit men are preparing their displays, and the guest speakers have accepted places on the program.

This year the corn field day returns to northwestern Ohio near the location of the first field day six years ago. The hosts are W. G. Wunder and W. A. Blank who operate a farm on state route 111 five miles west of Paulding. The date is November 1.

Not only the men will have contests this year. A husking contest for women also is planned, with appropriate prizes. The field day committee and The Ohio Farmer, sponsor of the contests, plan for 10 entrants in the women's event. Twenty-one men are to take part in the two men's husking contests, one for huskers of corn in the shock and one for huskers of standing corn.

The contestants will be winners of 20 county husking contests and the winners of last year's state competition.

The usual demonstrations of machinery for producing and harvesting corn will be on display. In addition there are extensive demonstrations of hybrid corns grown by Wunder and Blank under the direction of agronomists of the Ohio State University. Fourteen different hybrids suited to northwestern Ohio may be compared, at the field day, with six standard varieties common to the locality.

Two speakers have accepted places on the brief speaking program. C. R. Arnold, deputy production credit commissioner for the FCA, and formerly extension economist for the Ohio State University, will speak on the subject, "A well organized farm business as a foundation for farm credit."

R. M. Salter, chairman of the department of agronomy at the Ohio Experiment Station and the university, has been assigned the subject, "Can we continue to grow as much corn in the northwestern Ohio?"
